

SECURING AN 8-STOREY BUILDING IN READING

Providing security to commercial office premises in city centres is crucial for several reasons. These properties are often located in high traffic areas, making them vulnerable to vandalism, theft and unauthorised access.

Ensuring robust security measures such as installing alarm systems, bollards or board up windows not only protects the physical assets and infrastructure but deters criminal activity, preserving the buildings value and integrity.

THE CHALLENGE

This is a highly visible and modern building, with a large external car park, was between tenancies. The client required a watertight security provision that would also allow access for the landlord and contractors.
